“Fixing Troilus & Cressida.” Rude Mechs is presenting a new Fixing Shakespeare play — a series that aims to make William Shakespeare’s least produced works more accessible. In this case, the Rude Mechs, using writer Kirk Lynn’s script, are producing Shakespeare’s take on Homer’s “Illiad.” “Troilus and Cressida” is the love story hidden in the center of history’s greatest war, between the Trojans and the Greeks. Note: There will be a lot of bad words. 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday, 2 p.m. Saturday through March 31. $5-$100. Nowlin Rehearsal Hall, 1426 Toomey Road. rudemechs.com.
